Discover paradise below the surface

From majestic whale sharks, elegant giant mantas, strange mola molas, to the hypnotic pygmy seahorses, Indonesia's over 17,000 islands makes for an underwater biodiversity unlike any other in the world where flora and fauna flourish and rare species can be found.

And the unbridled nature well preserved

The volcanic ring-of-fire across Indonesia lends to a fertile arcadia of unique tropical ecology, ideal homes to special species from the pre-extinct Chinese Crested Terns to the Cendrawasih Bird of Paradise alike. The vastness of the archipelago too isolates preserved cultures, such as the fierce warriors of the Asmat Tribe and their newfound artistic pivot from their head hunting and cannibalism practice.

Encounter rarely found species

A rainbow swatch of coral reefs color Indonesia's underwater seascape. The isolated path of the Forgotten Islands makes for one of the worlds most underdeveloped and preserved marine biodiversity, with pristine crystal clear blue waters and magnificent underwater gardens.

The Komodo Dragon, the endangered apex predator measuring up to 3 meters in length, is exclusively found on a handful of islands that make up the Lesser Sunda,- while to the east, Papua's lush green jungle is home to 37 of the 41 Bird of Paradise species, along with many other endemic birds.

Across magical landscapes abound

Indonesian archipelago occupies a geological junction where many tectonic plates meet and collide, forming deep ocean trenches, volcanoes, and distinct jurassic mountain ranges and islands filled with dense tropical rainforests, towering limestone cliffs, and hidden lagoons.

Harness the energy of surrounding nature

From Occy's Left in Sumba, to breaks untamed in Rote, ride dream waves across Eastern Indonesia. Sailing off the beaten path, many secret waves have yet to be discovered

Onboard, and underwater, reconnect with nature as you absorb the energy of the ocean and the sun.

Witness timeless traditions

The old ways remain alive in parts of Indonesia where life is regulated by a series of distinct spectacular rituals and spirits. Some of the indigenous tribes still largely retain their unique cultural identity and beliefs. For many, their remote locations protect them from significant undue influence.

Our Commitment to doctorShare

Our passion is to connect the archipelago. Despite unequal distribution of medical infrastructure, we believe that everyone should have the same basic access to healthcare.

Through the years, we have had the privilege of partnering with a local medical non-profit known as doctorSHARE, in providing free medical services and disaster aid response through the work of the world's first Floating Hospital Barge all around Indonesia's remote islands.

We invite our guests to learn more about the work of doctorSHARE and to join us on one of our fundraising trips to take part and support the work of doctorSHARE.
